SELECTMEN SEEK HOUSING DECISION

JOINT MEETING WITH WHA DISCLOSES DIFFERENCES

The Selectmen of Wilmington will make a written official request of the Wilmington Housing Authority, and the WHA will vote on that request at its next meeting, on Dec 18th, the request being to make a decision one way or the other, concerning Urban Renewal in Wilmington.

In a meeting that was protracted, and full of discussion, and which was open to the public at the specific request of the WHA, various differences were disclosed as to opinions and interpretations on the laws pertaining to Urban Renewal. Wm F Smith, a member of the Authority, stated that the people were somewhat misled in the Town Meeting, and James Pipes, also of the Authority, stated that unfavorable features were not disclosed during the Town Meeting.

The formal vote of the Selectmen, after the joint meeting, read: VOTED: That pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 121, Sections 26QQ, 26XX and other relevant statutes and laws and to the action of the citizens of Wilmington in Town Meeting on October 29, 1956 under Articles 2 and 3 of the Warrant for same, that the Board of Selectmen request the Wilmington Housing Authority to assent to the creation of a Wilmington Urban Renewal Authority.

Argued over and over, during the meeting, was whether or not the authority of the Wilmington Housing Authority is needed, before Urban Renewal can be instituted in Wilmington, with Selectman Frank Hagerty refusing to concede the point, which all members of the WHA insisted on.

Mrs Drew, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, after a considerable amount of introductory discussion by others, asked the Housing Authority, 'What are your plans? What is your decision?' Mr Pipes, Chairman of the Housing Authority, answered that at the last meeting of the Housing Authority, which was not attended by all members, it was decided not to vote on giving its consent until an official written request for it had been received from the Board of Selectmen. He said that a member of the State Housing Authority had told them this request was a must. Also no vote was taken for or against Urban Renewal because all members were not present. Mr Pipes promised that, if the official written request from the Board of Selectmen has been received by the Housing Authority by December 18, the date of their next meeting, the Housing Authority will vote then on that request and let the Board of Selectmen know the result immediately.

Prior to the special town meeting at the end of October, Mr Pipes of the WHA had told the Town Manager that he felt that the Housing Authority would consent, but that this verbal informal expression of opinion did not constitute an official reply, and that no official request has been made to the Housing Authority by anyone for it to consent to anything, nor did it mean approval of a new board. He said that because at least three members of the Housing Authority thought Urban Renewal seemed like a good thing, it would be in the best interests of the town to have the matter voted upon in town meeting.

Town Manager Courtney explained that after the Chairman of the Housing Authority reported to him that he had polled the opinion of the WHA and found three in favor, they decided to go ahead with Urban Renewal articles in the Warrant for the Special Town Meeting to get the matter started as soon as possible. Mr Wm Smith of the WHA interjected, 'We were never asked legally--in writing', and Mr Rice of the WHA explained, 'The Housing Authority is a corporation, and nothing can be done by verbal agreement'.

Selectman DeFelice at this point admitted that there might have been poor planning

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

In the middle of October, a local Alcoholics Anonymous group began meeting every Tuesday night in the Methodist Church, and from the beginning, between five and ten residents of Wilmington have been attending the meetings -- regularly. The meetings are open to the public.

It goes without saying that we are in favor of such a group coming to Wilmington, and staying. Not because there is more of a need for the AA in Wilmington over other places, but because there is a need for it everywhere. Besides this, the AA has proven its effectiveness everywhere -- not through banners and headlines, but simply through the number of people who have been led away from hellish existences to more satisfying lives.

Even this we hardly need to say, but what needs to be said about this organization is the way in which they operate.

During the meetings there are no scorching sermons telling the members how badly they have fallen by the wayside. The meetings are usually held in conjunction with a visiting group, and the visitors stand up, one by one, and tell the others just how they have been helped by the AA, and what the temptations are that should be avoided. There is no scolding.

Nor is there any scolding when a member "tips off" the wagon. The other members do not wait with self-satisfaction until he comes back and then say, "Well -- what happened to you, anyway?" Instead, they go out to wherever he is, whether it's in a hospital or in jail, and give him all the help they can.

We believe that this is a wonderful way of doing things. To bawl a person out for an overpowering addiction for alcohol -- or for anything, for that matter -- very rarely changes the person's ways. Instead, it either makes him rebel, or makes him feel ashamed of himself. But to understand his problem and to tell him what to do about it cannot help but give him confidence and the power to help himself. We believe that this is a wonderful way of doing things, not only within the AA, but outside of it, as well.

URBAN RENEWAL

One thing is certain, and that is -- at so far Urban Renewal has not exactly gone the way it was planned, for Wilmington. The discussion Monday night, between the Selectmen and the members of the Wilmington Housing Authority is proof of this.

The Selectmen, it will be remembered, in the Town Meeting, got the town to vote for an article in which there would be a body, or group of people in charge of Urban Renewal. It would be a new Authority, of elected members, and thus in one sense breach the Town Charter, by increasing the number of town officials who would be elected instead of appointed.

Several persons have toyed with the idea of being on the Urban Renewal Board, one prominent citizen going so far as to "clear the deck for action", by getting rid of encumbrances that could be slightly embarrassing.

Now perhaps, there is to be no such Board, for, as William F (Agreeable) Smith told the Selectmen Monday night -- "We are the Urban Renewal Authority". The laws of the Commonwealth are such that Mr Smith was only voicing a fact if the other members of the Wilmington Housing Authority feel the same way --

And, it would seem that they do. The Housing Authority is the Urban Renewal Authority in every city and town in Massachusetts where such authorities exist, with the sole exception of Boston, and everyone will agree that Boston is, and always was an exceptional case. So -- when the Housing Authority decides that they are going to be the Urban Renewal Authority as well, it would seem that the only thing the Selectmen can do is to whistle and like it

TEACHER SHORTAGE

And we don't mean a shortage of regular teachers at the beginning of the year -- although good ones at this time are certainly hard to find. The more urgent problem is the shortage of substitute teachers to fill vacancies which spring up during the regular school year.

Wilmington schools -- and especially the High School -- have seen all they want to of the problem this year. Several times a classroom had to be combined with another, because there was no substitute teacher on hand to take over.

The problem does not lie just in Wilmington. Supt. John Collins found this out at a recent Merrimack Valley School Superintendents meeting. The need for teachers has been so acute that in many schools former teachers interested only in day to day substitute work have been pressed into service as regular teachers. We cannot help but think that there are many college graduates, with decreasing family responsibilities, who would be willing to perform a genuine service for our community schools. The opportunity to assist in an area of critical need is really present, and the chance to brush up on the subjects of your specialty should be a pleasant challenge.

Supt Collins urges either former teachers or college graduates without experience to get in touch with him, if they are available. We also urge them to do so.

George, His Honor the Mayor of Wilmington, is back.

The old gentleman is to be seen daily, down at Weinbergs, working with the children who visit the store.

For several months George has just been lying low, and resting, according to his version, at Larry Foley's farm.

Actually George has put in a couple of strenuous months, cutting hay and cutting brush, and we think he looks better than he ever did before.

By joining the Skating Club, President Mike Weinberg pointed out, Wilmington residents, for the sum of $1, can benefit from the association of many well known speed skaters, and of several North American Champions. Membership, for children is only 50 cents.

Members of the club who have won North American Speed Championships are Mrs. Janet Tighe Indoor and Outdoor Senior Women's Champion, Miss Jeanne Ashworth, Women's Indoor and Outdoor Champion, Leon (Butch) Backman, Outdoor Champion, and Miss Nancy Weinberg, Outdoor Champion. REMARKS OF TOWN MANAGER JOSEPH COURTNEY, AT THE GOVERNOR'S CONFERENCE, PANEL ON BUSINESS AND INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT, IN HOTEL STATLER ON DECEMBER 1ST

Aside from obvious requirements such as geographical location, available land and basic municipal services, there are several propositions concerning the role of community in industrial development which I submit for your consideration.

First: That new industrial development is not, -and should not be regarded as a cure-all for municipal ailments. It can easily create as many problems as it solves. A community unprepared to handle the responsibilities of substantial industrial expansion is inviting a painful case of municipal indigestion.

Second: That for the foreseeable future, there will not be enough new industrial development to satisfy the hopes of cities and towns which look to industry to solve their financial problems -- and therefore the wisest course for any municipality to follow is to put its own house in order without depending upon industrial development which may never materialize.

Third: We rarely hear of a desirable industry anxiously seeking an opportunity to rescue a city or town from its own lack of foresight.

Fourth: The motives underlying the usual municipal effort to attract new industry involve either or both:

-the need for additional tax revenue, and/or

-the need for increased employment opportunities.

For many suburban communities already staggering under the costs of massive population growth, these motives are mutually exclusive - for them the advent of a mass employment industry could easily constitute municipal disaster.

Fifth: New industrial development is as much an investment for the community as it is for the firm. It is senseless for a community to offer more or to sacrifice more for the sake of attracting an industry than it will get in return.

Sixth: Desirable industrial prospects are characterized by their willingness to assume a fair share of responsibility to the community. And in return such a prospect seeks tangible long term assurance that it will remain a welcome and valued guest of the community.

Seventh: The more desperate the municipal need for new industrial development, the more concessions and inducements that can be wrung out of the community. There is another side to this coin however. Not only is a desperate community a poor risk for industrial investment - there is the obvious fact that the new industry buys the problems of the community along with the site - and it will inescapably pay its share of the next round of uneconomic concessions - and the next round after that.

Eighth: The best advice any city or town can follow for a long term program is attract and hold industry is that phrase coined by Dick Preston which seems to be the official motto of the Massachusetts Department of Commerce: TO ATTRACT, YOU MUST FIRST BE ATTRACTIVE.

Those actions which to a community must take to guarantee its own future are the most effective inducements it can afford to offer a new industry.

BOARD OF HEALTH ANNOUNCES NEW POLIO INOCULATION PLANS

All persons under thirty are eligible to receive Polio Vaccine from State supplies until vaccine on hand, which is nearing its expiration date, is exhausted. Thereafter State vaccine can be given only to those under twenty.

The reason for the temporary inclusion of those aged twenty through twenty-nine is that the program came almost to a standstill during September and October and the vaccine which had been purchased for distribution this fall has stayed in the cold room. This is due partly to the small number of teenagers fifteen through nineteen who came forward for vaccine, but there are thousands of children under fifteen who have not yet been included in the program. In fact, 23% of those who have been eligible are still unimmunized.

Those between nineteen and thirty may now go to their family physicians, who will obtain the vaccine from the local Board of Health. The only charge which the physician will make will be for the administration of the vaccine. This makes vaccine available to young parents, a group which is usually harder hit than other adults.

Those who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity must act at once. It is expected that the vaccine will be used up rapidly. Some of the vaccine goes out of date December 25, and the remainder by January 19.

This also means that most college students, many teachers, nurses and internes will be able to receive State vaccine. Many calls have come in from these groups, but the vaccine has been denied to them up to this time because they were over nineteen.

School children constitute the only group which is well protected. Over 95% of children aged five through fourteen have received polio vaccine, 90% having received two doses

SCHOOL NURSES REPORT ON SALK INOCULATION

Babies, pre-school children, school children, and older teen-agers in Wilmington, in clinics held periodically over the last year and a half, have received their first and second Salk vaccine shots, for the prevention of polio. Since the third shots cannot be given until Spring of 1957, it would seem to be a good time now to acknowledge the vast amount of work which has already been accomplished in this town in the wiping out of this disease.

The clinics, numbering 35 and reaching 2700 children, who have received 5300 doses of Salk vaccine, have been held under the auspices of the Wilmington Board of Health. The Board of Health doctor, Dr G A Fagan, and the school doctor, Dr E C MacDougall, have given the inoculations. A nursing staff, consisting of Miss Ethel Butters, the public health nurse, Mrs Guy Nichols, school nurse, Mrs Robert Lyle, assistant school nurse, and Mrs Robert Doucette, have worked with the doctors. Pupils in the schools have attended clinics held at the Wildwood School and the High School, under the direction of Mrs Nichols. Clinics for babies, pre-school children, and teen-agers out of school, have been held at the Legion Hall, with Miss Butters in charge.

It would have been impossible for two busy doctors and four busy school and civic nurses to have carried on these clinics alone, without a great loss of time and efficiency. Women in the community, therefore, were asked to assist at the various clinics. The response was tremendous. If the list of volunteers seems short it is because many of the women came several times a week, some even attending every clinic in a group. Only important reasons kept anyone who was asked away. Some volunteered. They kept their appointments faithfully, without being reminded. During the clinics they worked at whatever jobs they were given, with patience, humor and understanding.

So, we two nurses who have been conducting this health project, wish to thank all the women whose assistance has been so vital to its success. Since some of you may have even forgotten what you did, let us call you by name: Mrs Arnold Blake, Mrs Frank Bishop, Mrs Hayward Bliss, Mrs Edwin Buck RN, Mrs Stanley Cummings, Mrs Joseph Cuoco, Mrs Lawrence Frost, Mrs Everett Gager, Mrs Henry Hartwell, Mrs Claude Helwig, Mrs George Keough, Mrs Donald Kidder, Mrs Kenneth Lyons, Mrs Robert McClure, Mrs Hugh Porter RN, Mrs Parker Prindle, Mrs John Silvers RN, Mrs John Tobey and Mrs Harland Whittredge.

Thank you all!

Ethel Butters, RN
Esther H Nichols, RN

SALK VACCINE AVAILABLE

The Board of Health has on hand now enough polio vaccine for almost everyone according to a Wilmington physician. There is a quantity available now which will be outdated in about a month.

All persons up through the age of 50 should receive inoculations, and now is the time for those who have not yet received any shots to do it, in order to receive a complete course of three shots properly spaced.

Application should be made through the family doctor, who will also give the shot.

In Chicago this past summer

there were NO deaths among those who had had the three shots.

The vaccine which is available now will have to be used within approximately a month or discarded. It has cost money to produce, there are persons who should have it, it can do good, but it must be used now, before its guarantee of effectiveness date has passed.

Bill Cunningham on radio this last Sunday night spoke about salk vaccine.

before the special town meeting, but wanted to know what the present plans of the WIA are and what the two members who attended the Urban Renewal Clinic at MIT found out, and what else the Housing Authority had learned since the special Town Meeting that the Board of Selectmen should know. One important thing they learned, said Mr Pipes, was that the Town is liable for money used to plan the project if the plans are not accepted by the Town, according to a State Housing Board member. Mr Bliss and Mr Hagerty both expressed disagreement with this interpretation. Mr Bliss pointed out that the law said the money was to be paid back out of money appropriated, that if a Town Meeting turned down the project and no money was appropriated for it there was nothing out of which to pay it back. Mr Hagerty referred to Section 102 which he interpreted to mean that the Town had to undertake the project before any money was involved. Mr Smith said he asked specific information on both these points at the clinic, and the authorities there definitely said the Town can be made to pay it back. Mr Pipes reported that a State Housing Board member explained to them that when the Federal Government loans the money to the Town, the Housing Authority or the Urban Renewal Authority and also Town officials have to sign a note to pay back the money with interest. It has been a policy, but only a policy of the Federal Government, not to press for repayment in a few cases where projects have been turned down, because they did not want unfavorable publicity for Urban Renewal. Mr Pipes pointed out that at the Town Meeting, the voters were taking the word of Mr Braun, a professional consultant, and that because it is the policy of Authorities that go into Urban Renewal to hire professional consultants, a professional consultant naturally would try to sell a Town on Urban Renewal so that he could be hired for the job. This would tend to make a professional refrain from pointing out any unfavorable features, especially if he was convinced that the idea as a whole was a good thing. Mr Braun had a right to suggest that the town would not have to repay if the project was not accepted because the policy had been not to push for repayment. Unless he was asked this question specifically, he would not be obliged to give a specific answer. Mr Smith said that at the Town Meeting he tried to do just this when he asked the Moderator to read and interpret Section 26QQ, which the Moderator did read but did not interpret. Mr

Smith was unsuccessful in obtaining recognition when he tried later to ask the specific question about the Town's liability to repay the loan if the project was turned down.

Mr Bliss suggested that because the Housing Authority is a corporation and has to be careful of its books and records that it request the opinion of the state director in writing, and that it base its decisions on written signed replies to written questions, rather than on verbal. He said he believed the Board of Selectmen would make a formal request to the Housing Authority for consent.

The question had come up previously also as to whether the Housing Authority is the Urban Renewal authority until other appointment is made, and whether consent of the Housing Authority has to be given before such other appointments can be made.

DeFelice: 'Write to one of the men, Jimmy.'

Mr Pipes said he would be more than willing to ask in writing more than one authority (repayment and necessity for official request of consent, and any other questions).

On the question of preference to be given to original owners to buy back property taken by Urban Renewal there was some difference of opinion. Mr Smith said he asked an expert if the original owner would have preference at a lower bid than, say, a big chain, and was told that Urban Renewal could give no preference. Mr Pipes said he understood that in some cases the original owners had formed a corporation and bid back in. Mr Courtney asked if the Renewal Authority was bound to take the highest bid on properties. Mr Fenton, who with Mr Smith attended the Urban Renewal Clinic at MIT, answered, 'No, it could take the bid it felt was in the best interest of the Town.' Mr Pipes said the Renewal Authority was supposed to get back as much money as possible, and Mr Smith said that in some cases a surplus had occurred which a town had been allowed to keep and use for another project in the same town.

On the question of displaced persons, Mr Smith said they had been told that the Renewal Authority did not have to supply housing for home owners whose homes had been taken, that they had only to make an attempt to find housing, that they could build a low cost housing project.

Mr Hagerty expressed concern over section 26zz of the State law, that it appeared from that that until the Planning Board acted nothing could be done. Mr Fenton replied that the Town goes through the state and after that by passes the state and does business with the Federal Government.

Mr Courtney commented on the many possibilities for veto: the State, the Federal, the Town Meeting, the Housing Authority, and the Selectmen. 'Seems like a lot of vetoes.'

Mr Courtney said that the Planning Board had allocated $600 for professional help in making out the detailed application to the Federal Government, that it would be wiped out as of January 1 if it had not been used, and for that reason the whole matter should be settled so they could go ahead and hire the professional help. He said he knew of no funds that were available to either Housing Authority or Urban Renewal for this, and that the Planning Board could go ahead with its $600 to get a consultant to prepare the detailed application if they knew what the Housing Authorities plans were.

Mr Pipes said that usually a consultant would file an application without pay in hopes that he would get the job, and Mr Smith suggested considering more than one consultant, that some will do a lot of ground work free of charge. Mr Courtney disagreed on this policy, stated that getting one of these consultants was in a way like marrying - get THE one you want, and stick with him through the whole procedure, instead of trying price chiselling.

Mr Smith asked if they still wanted Mr Braun after his showing at the special Town Meeting. Mr Courtney replied that Mr Goodman, Mr Braun's partner certainly did a magnificent job at his appearance.

Mr Hagerty: 'We are at a point where we don't know where we stand. We have no Urban Renewal Authority -

Mr Smith: 'We ARE the Urban Renewal Authority.'

The conference ended shortly thereafter, with general agreement that everything was in order, with the Town having voted that there is need for Urban Renewal, and Selectmen then able to go ahead to ask consent of Housing Authority to form another Authority. If the Housing Authority says no, but wants Urban Renewal, the Housing Authority can then ask the Selectmen to appoint them the Urban Renewal Authority. It had been brought out in discussion that the Finance Committee had got the opinion verbally from the Town Counsel, and Mr Bliss suggested that here also a written answer to a written question might help to prevent misunderstandings also.
